Mounted Rifles and Strathconas Leave Dec. 1st

INTERESTING REPORT FROM LORD ROBERTS.

Baden Powell ill with Fever.

Winnipeggers Reach Home.

New Boer Republic.

Winnipeg, Nov. 12, '00.

London, Nov. 12: Lord Roberts telegraphing from Johannesburg under date of November 8th, gives an interesting report to the war office. He says: "Gen. Knox states that he takes no credit for the very successful engagement of November 8th, which was due in the first instance to the determination of Le Gallais never to lose touch with the enemy again; secondly to the able way in which De Lisle handled the firing line after Le Gallais and Ross were wounded. Smith-Dorrien reports that the two days fighting mentioned was very hard. His force consisted of 250 mounted troops from the 5th Lancers, the Royal Canadian Dragoons and Mounted Rifles, two Royal Canadian Artillery guns, four guns of the 84th Battery and 900 men of the Suffolks and Shropshires. Our casualties the first day were six killed and twenty wounded, chiefly of the Shropshires, who fought splendidly. The next day the Boers tried to seize the strong position on the bank of the Komati from which they were beaten out Nov. 6th, but were prevented by Col. Evans, of the Canadian corps and two of the eighty-fourth guns galloping two miles and seizing it in the nick of time. The rear, on the return march, was defended by Col. Lessard with the Canadian Dragoons and two Royal Canadian guns under Lieut. Col. Morley. Smith-Dorrien says no praise can be too high for the devoted gallantry these troops showed in keeping off the enemy from the infantry positions. In the afternoon an event unprecedented in this war occurred, when some 200 mounted Boers suddenly charged the rear guard to which seventy yards when they were stopped by the Canadian Dragoons. During the fight sixteen of the Canadians fell into the hands of the enemy who treated them kindly and released them after removing their own dead and wounded, during which operation the Canadians were compelled to lie on their faces in order that they might not see how heavily the Boers had suffered. Our casualties the two killed and twelve wounded."

London, Nov. 11th: A curious story comes from St. Petersburg to the effect that when Kruger removed his capital to Mafeking a number of burglars who had been left in the lurch, went north where they decided to start their own republic at Cantonburg. They held the necessary meetings, declared Barend - Vorster president; Mamuk, ex-lord of Haksburg, vice-president, and a lawyer named Krause, brother of the commandant of Johannesburg, state secretary.

Baden-Powell has been attacked by fever.

The condition of Miss Roberts is worse.

The Mounted Rifles and Strathcona Horse sail for home on Dec. 1st.

Five Winnipeg members of the first contingent returned to the city Saturday.

The Taku forts are to be dismantled and Pekin to be permanently connected with the sea."

Montreal, Nov. 11th: The latest story in political circles is that the Berlin, Nov. 11th: The German foreign office has been informed regarding the alleged insult offered by Russian troops at Shan Hai Kwan to the British flag. It believes that if there be any foundation for the report the incident will probably be immediately adjusted by the higher officers.

Yarmouth, Nov. 11th: Word has been received here that the steamship City of Monticello, has foundered off Cape Foulch. Forty-eight went down with the doomed vessel. The City of Monticello plies between Yarmouth and Halifax and was bound for Halifax when she foundered. Cape Foulch, near where the vessel sank, is in the Bay of Fundy, and is considered dangerous by the fishermen who frequent these waters. Recent storms have made these unusually dangerous. As yet there is no report to the effect that any person was saved from the doomed ship. The place where the Monticello struck is at the mouth of the Bay of Fundy where the waters of the Bay join those of the Atlantic. There are many reefs and shoals at this spot and the currents are many and changeable. It being one of the worst places on the coast. The gale last night kicked up a tremendous sea and at the same time the vessel struck the waves were heaving upon the rocks and sending spray for hundreds of feet over the land. The Monticello was on her way from St. John to Yarmouth, a full freight and a fairly large passenger list. Just before she foundered an attempt was made to reach the land in a small boat in charge of the quartermaster. It contained 3rd officer, Flewling, a stewardess named Smith, and three passengers. This boat was smashed by a huge boulder, the occupants being hurled high upon the beach at Pembroke, uninjured. It is believed these are the only survivors of the forty.

Washington, Nov. 11th: A startling statement is made in the report of Rear-Admiral Crowninshield, chief of the navy, that the present personnel of the navy, would form barely one-fourth the total establishment necessary to fight a first class power. It barely sufficed for the Spanish-American war and can no longer be considered, the report says, as an effective nucleus about which a larger establishment could be formed in case of war.

THE ELECTIONS.

The elections just concluded have not only been an unmistakable endorsement of the Laurier government, but in Alberta, have been an emphatic condemnation of the campaign of falsehood and vilification conducted against Frank Oliver. Mr. Oliver's supporters have spoken in no doubtful voice. In spite of every false and belittling thing which an extremely partisan press could trump up against him, Mr. Oliver has been endorsed at the polls by the electors who have proven that they were not to be swayed by the statements of irresponsible, either in the press or on the platform.

Now that the election is over and victors and vanquished have shaken hands it is well that the hatchet should be buried. But the time may come when the hatchet will be disinterred and the campaign re-opened. Let us hope it will not be along the same lines. Let us hope that the day which now seems to be dawning will be a day in which words will not be regarded before facts; or slander and abuse take the place of argument and reasoning.

The defeat of Sir Charles Tupper must be regarded as a happy event by the conservatives, and it certainly is an unfortunate occurrence for the liberal party. Sir Chas. Tupper was not of this day. He lived in the past. Canada lives in the present and looks to the future. Sir Charles lived in the days of confederation. His defeat, while being an unfortunate thing for the liberals, will result in advantage to the country, as his place in parliament, as leader of the opposition, will be filled by some, younger man, one more in touch with things of this day and the opposition will be all the stronger and better on that account.

RETROSPECTIVE.

Calgary Herald despatch from Edmonton Post, Nov. 6: The Germans are for Bennett and there seems to be a great change of feeling on the part of the French-Canadians in favor of the conservatives. Edmonton figures the matter thus: Bennett will carry Stratford and all towns south of the Saskatchewan. To offset Bennett's majority in the south Oliver will have to come to the Saskatchewan river with a majority of 500 and there is no possibility of his getting this or anywhere near it and Bennett is regarded as the sure winner. Men who know the constituency throughout concede Bennett's election.

HUGH JOHN TELLS HOW IT HAPPENED.

Hon. Hugh John Macdonald has returned to Winnipeg from Brandon. Mr. Macdonald expressed his intention of resuming his law practice and of not re-entering local politics. "I am glad," said Mr. Macdonald, "that Ontario has so strongly condemned the Laurier government for its broken promises and corrupt practices. An concerned Brandon I can only attribute my defeat to the influences of the unlimited money used by my opponent and the failure of the prohibition vote to support the prohibition platform to which I was pledged. I fear that what is known as the prohibition vote is anything in practical politics, and that prohibition has received a setback from which it will never recover. Brandon was always a strong prohibition constituency and no one expressed anything but satisfaction with the liquor act. Politicians on both sides are only human and the result has been such as to warrant them in not sacrificing themselves for the sake of the prohibitionists."

HOW IT WENT BEFORE.

The standing of parties returned at the last general election as disclosed by the first vote in the House of Commons, Sept. 8, 1896, is given in the Parliamentary Guide, as follows:

	Gov. Dep.
Ontario,	46 43
Quebec,	49 16
Nova Scotia,	10 10
New Brunswick,	5 9
Prince Edward Island,	2 3
Manitoba,	2 4
British Columbia,	4 2
The Territories,	2 1
Total,	122 88

Government majority, 34.

An analysis of the House, as disclosed by the vote, gave the following as the stand of the parties: Liberals, 177; Conservatives, 89; Patrons, 3; Independents, 2; vacant seats, 2. Total 218.

These figures show that the liberals had a majority over the conservatives of 28 and counting the vacant seats it would be about 30. In making comparisons all bye-elections should be discarded and always are except as they affect particular localities.

THE SEASON.

Nearly half of November is gone and the appearance of the trees and ground, as well as the temperature of the atmosphere, with its clear air and bright sunshine, would make it difficult to believe that the season was late than August or early September. There has been a wonderful autumn. The last end of the season has done much to make amends for the atmospheric eccentricities of the spring and summer. While the continued and excessive moisture throughout the summer made as unpleasant a growing and harvesting season as it was possible to have, the last six weeks have been as delightful an autumn as Alberta ever had, or as any one could wish for.

YUKON MAILS.

With reference to the notice to the public lately issued stating that, up on the close of the summer arrangements for mail transportation to and from Dawson and other points in the Yukon Territory, the mails would necessarily be limited to letters only, postmasters are now informed, that a limited quantity of newspapers can be accepted by the department for transmission to the territory in question and to the Alaskan district. Should the amount of such matter received at Vancouver, B. C., for the destinations mentioned be in excess of what the department can forward, the preference will be given to single newspapers addressed to private individuals.

THE RESULT IN THE STATES.

Summing up the result and reasons of the States' elections the New York Journal says:—

William McKinley has been re-elected in the most decisive fashion. His popular majority is much less than in 1896, but his electoral majority is enormous. Through the haze of this defeat the democracy can see the victory that might have been. Beyond a doubt Bryan would have been triumphantly elected but for two things: "First was the intrusion of the silver issue. Free silver was dead, and so unpopular that even its corpse was enough to drag any man down to defeat. The second was the policy of cutting loose entirely from the Philippines. That was not in accord with the spirit of the American people. The people have evidently made up their minds to dispose of free silver once for all. The effort was superficial, for free silver had ceased to exist as a possible policy four years ago, but the voters were determined not to have the remains lying around any longer. The democratic party has paid by two defeats for the adoption of an unpopular and discredited issue. The American public opinion believes in the retention of the Philippines, and in the extension to that country of a truly American form of government."

TRADE STATISTICS.

Ottawa, Nov. 3: The trade statistics just published for the quarter ending Sept. 30th, 1900, show total trade $108,329,229, an increase over the same quarter of last year of $9,585,632, and an increase over the same period of the fiscal year 1899-0, which was the last fiscal year of the conservative regime, of $43,432,440. The exports for the quarter were eight and one-half millions in excess of the same quarter of 1899, and twenty-four millions in excess of 1898-9. For the month of September, 1900, the exports of Canadian produce were four and three-quarter millions more than for the same month of 1899. The total trade for September, 1900, was $6,790,658 over that of September, 1899. Calculated on the basis of goods entered for consumption (exclusive of coin and bullion) and Canadian produce only exported, the increase for the September quarter of 1900, over that of 1899 was $12,000,000. The figures are: Exports—September, 1900, $23,766,966; September, 1899, $17,069,535; an increase; $6,767,431. Three months ending September 30, 1900, $59,339,466; 1899, $50,928,464; increase, $8,410,002. Imports—September, 1900, $16,053,096; September, 1899, $15,939,809; increase $113,227. Three months ending September 30, 1900, $48,894,463; 1899, $47,718,933; increase, $1,175,530. Total trade for September, 1900, $39,820,062; 1899, $33,029,404; increase, 1900, $6,790,658. Total trade for the three months ending September, 1900, $108,329,229; 1899, $98,746,789; increase, $9,585,632. Comparison with quarters ended September 30, 1900, and 1899.—Total trade, 1900, $108,329,229; 1899, $104,800,489; increase $4,432,440. Summary of three months trade, 1900 and 1899, on the basis of goods entered for consumption exclusive of coin and bullion, and Canadian produce only: Total 1900, $82,980,437; 1899, $70,837,363; increase $12,000,074.

Canada's export trade in butter shows the remarkable fact that more was exported in 1879 than in 1896; and that in 1900 one million dollars' worth more was exported than in the whole of the last four years of conservative government. Here are the figures: 1879, $2,101,000; 1896, $1,052,000; 1900, $5,122,556; 1893-94-95-96, total $4,141,000.

The figures taken from reports of the bank deposits of the Dominion are remarkable: July, 1878, $66,013,750; July, 1896, $187,048,982; June, 1900, $277,256,716, an average increase up to 1896 of $6,724,179, and from 1896 to 1900 of $22,551,933.

A despatch received here from Victoria announces the death from enteric fever of Prince Christian Victor, of Schleswig-Holstein, a grandson of Queen Victoria. He was born in 1867, and was a major in the King's Royal Rifles.

TRANSVAAL TO BE SOLD.

Lord Roberts has cabled the war office that former President Steyn, in a speech to Delarey's burghers on Oct. 23, said that Mr. Kruger had gone to Europe to "get intervention," and that if he failed "the Transvaal would be auctioned off to the highest bidder."

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

A sad accident occurred on Wednesday to a little daughter of Mr. Isaac Dore, at Clover Bar. She was thrown from a horse which she was riding near her father's house, and another horse which was following stepped on her breast, breaking some ribs and doubtless doing internal injury, though of how great extent we have not yet learned. It is hoped the injuries will not prove fatal or permanent.—Pleasant.

RETURNING SOLDIERS AT HALIFAX.

A Halifax despatch of Nov. 2nd, says: Till one o'clock this morning, when a special train of 11 cars bore away the soldier laddies whose homes were further west, the reception of this loyal city to the returned heroes waged furiously. The big procession formed as soon as the khaki-clad boys had debarked from the Idaho and had kissed their mothers and sisters and cousins who happened to be on hand, made its way through streets fairly like in their decorations to the common. There was held a service of thanksgiving, the like of which the generation here has not witnessed and will likely never witness again. A devout Te Deum expressing obligation for protection from the chances of war was sung by an impromptu choir, assisted by an organ. Chaplain Fullerton read the Lord's Prayer. A thanksgiving song of victory pealed forth. Chaplain Bullock recited the Collect for the occasion, and Chaplain Lane pronounced the benediction. Spontaneous of the service in the form of copies of the Te Deum which had been printed by order of the mayor were enthusiastically carried off by the crowd.

A DELEGATE'S OPINION.

The Salix Sittings, Salix, Iowa, has the following:

Our fellow townsman, Joseph Bilson—known among the "Salix tribe of Indians," far and wide, as White Cloud—returned last Friday from Alberta and the British possessions, after a stay of six months in that country.

Who is a close observer, and in an interview with Sittings he gave us facts—and facts only—leaving the reader to judge for himself. He returns next spring—good evidence that the north is not a bad place for a habitation—particularly for a poor man.

The distance from Salix is nineteen hundred miles, reached by all-rail route, and the cost for the round trip is about $50.

Civil government there is good, law, and order everywhere prevailing. Religious toleration exists, and as a rule there are but two sects—the established church and Roman Catholicism.

The land is rich prairie and timber—the former having the most acres. The soil is heavy, black in color when opened, and wonderfully productive for all crops except corn. It beats the world, Joe says, for vegetables. Think of cabbage heads weighing twenty pounds! The grass crop is enormous. The entire country is well watered. Some of the soil has been used for two hundred years, and without particular nourishment, it is as strong as ever.

Lands vary in price, as elsewhere—the cheapest being $3.50 per acre, and from that upward—depending upon location.

The country is remarkably healthy both among human beings and beasts. Such things as cholera among swine or disease among cattle and chickens is totally unknown. If asked about diseases among animals, no inhabitant there would know what was meant.

The climate is what might be expected in that high latitude, but the cold is tempered with mildness and comparative comfort, and there never was either blizzard or cyclone in all the land. The enormous crop of vegetables is the best evidence that the summers are not so short as many suppose.

The nights are cool and the days, as a rule, are pleasant. In a word extremes do not abound there, and none suffer from either heat or cold.

The people are hospitable to a degree and welcome strangers—especially when from this country.

The inhabitants appear to be happy and contented. Few go away, and a general exodus never was known.

Schools and churches are as common as here. Freedom of thought, freedom of action everywhere prevail. Summary laws and class legislation are not upon the statute books.

Joe says that it is not a paradise, but it is a great country, and to a man of limited means it affords vastly better opportunities than does Iowa or Nebraska—in fact any western state.

Mr. Bilson will return in the spring. During this winter he will remain in and around Salix, and will cheerfully answer all questions that may be propounded to him.

As a result of the good work done by the Strathcona Horse and the mounted men of the second Canadian contingent in South Africa it is expected that a demand will spring up for Canadian ranch horses for use in the British cavalry service. After the Canadian horses shed the winter coats which they had when leaving Canada, and got accustomed to the change in climate, they were pronounced equal to the best in the service. They are pronounced particularly adapted to mounted infantry work.—Commercial.

If all the unrepresented states should turn out as democratic, a highly improbable contingency, it would not change the result. The latest returns from Nebraska indicate a republican plurality. The fifty-seventh congress seems to be republican by substantial working majority. The gubernatorial tickets have apparently followed the national and Odell is elected in New York and Yates in Illinois.

A CORRESPONDENT'S OPINION OF "TOMMY."

Mr. Hales, the Australian correspondent says: "The order came to camp for a couple of hours, and then 'Tommy' piled his rifle, threw off his kit, stretched himself upon the feathered grass, grabbed a healthy sized rock for a pillow, and munched his blaud and chunk of half-rum beef or mutton with a zest born of keen hunger, which was near akin to famine. When he had assimilated his food he drew forth that most faithful of friends, his dearly loved pipe, and smoked joyously, happy as any gutter kid for the time being, happy in his utter forgetfulness and irresponsibility. He is purely animal in his emotions is 'Tommy'. He is brave because his father and mother were brave before he was begotten. He is careless because they were careless, or else he would never have needed 'that for a soldier.' Right down to his half-beaten heart he worships one thing as devoutly as did the pirate gang who, of old time, swept the northern seas under that vagabond raving, Harold Hardrada. 'Tommy's' fetish is the British public. He, poor fellow believes in them just as they believe in him. They know that no matter what comes or goes, 'Tommy' will somehow or another, drag the old flag out on top, as he has always done. Generals may make mistakes, lesser officers may blunder here and there, but in the end 'Tommy' will even up the score on the slate and come out on top. It's a way the beggar has. How he does it God alone knows. Why he does it gets past me, if only know that he does it, and whilst I often feel that I'd like to punch him for being a fool, I find myself, in spite of self, taking my hat off to him for an unadorned hero."

Mr. Justice Barker, of New Brunswick; Mr. Justice Langlois, of Quebec, and Mr. D. Coulson, General Manager of the Bank of Toronto, have made their award on the claim of New Brunswick against the Dominion. The claim has been pressed since 1884, and arises by reason of the failure of the Dominion to pay in 1889 the full amount claimed by the province for their expenditure on the portion of the Intercolonial taken over by the Dominion at that date. The road had cost the province $100,000. The Dominion took it over and credited the province with $250,000 in 1889, subsequently in 1884 the remaining $150,000 was credited. The arbitrators find that the province is entitled to interest on this latter award in the following terms: "We find and report that the Dominion that the $150,000 voted in 1884 was in full of all claims by the province in connection with this road is not sustained by the evidence, but that the facts and circumstances are altogether the other way. We find arbitrators, having duly considered all the matter upon equitable principles, do award and determine as our opinion that it would be a just and equitable disposition of the claim that the Dominion government should pay to the province of New Brunswick the various semi-annual payments of $9,750 to which it would have been entitled if this $150,000 had been carried to the credit of the province in 1889 instead of 1884, as we think it equitable should have been; together with interest at 5 per cent. on the several semi-annual payments from the time they would have been payable up to the 1st of July, 1884, when the $150,000 was credited. This sum we find of amount to $145,318.75, and we also award and state as our opinion that this sum the province is entitled to be paid by the Dominion government with interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum. (Signed) Fred E. Barker, F. Langlois; D. Coulson."

LONDON'S WELCOME TO HER SOLDIERS.

It was expected that London's welcome to the first troops returning from the South African war would be a great local jubilation, but without further significance. It proved to be an event which challenges the attention of the entire world. The three letters "C. I. V." have spelled a new human passion, which, neither patriotism nor Imperialism, is something which suggests challenges and defiance. When it is said for the first time in history London's millions, without evil intention, overstepped all control, and that the returning volunteers had to literally fight their way to St. Paul's cathedral, where they finally arrived in single file, some idea, perhaps, may be gained of the strange scenes in the streets of this world's metropolis. Never before has there been witnessed in this city any other land such a marvellous demonstration of the omnipotence of vast masses of humanity. Nothing withstood their good-natured and even amiable assaults. All barriers were swept away like wheat through which troops of cavalry have charged. The precautions, which were as complete as those of jubilee day or any similar occasion in the past, proved useless. The troops were so numerous that they stood literally shoulder to shoulder on both sides of the streets from end to end of the route. Behind these there was an equal force of police facing the crowd. The jubilee began two hours before the procession was due. It was waged first by the police alone, but it soon became necessary for the soldiers to join, which they did by linking arms and crowding back to back to give added weight to the police line. This was speedily seen to be inefficient, and the mounted troops and police, especially at the street crossings and squares, tried to force back the multitude. It was the first time your correspondent saw mounted men helpless against an overwhelming weight of humanity. Their charges at Ludgate circus, for instance, served to make those near the front fight desperately to drive back their fellows, but they were all as helpless as straws in a current. Again and again the path which they were trying to keep clear through the centre narrowed, as the surging multitude pressed from both sides until the copious lines of soldiers and police touched.

This last may be traced to pass to go to welcome the column at Temple Bar according to programme. It was simply impossible for him to get through and he stopped at St. Paul's.

The head of the procession finally arrived. The first portion of the route was passed with less difficulty. From Fleet street to the cathedral, however, the volunteers simply fought and struggled through as best they could, and most of the way they got through one by one. Throughout the whole six miles, however, the struggling masses of spectators were at times beyond control. The spirit controlling these mighty millions was quite different from that of jubilee day three years ago. There was no bad temper, but a general intolerance of control which was quite new to London crowds. Saturday's disappointment and the rain which fell at noon to-day gave the impression that there would be no great crush, but it is impossible to doubt that the mightiest mass of humanity that ever assembled with a common object gathered in London to-day to take part in the demonstration. It would be difficult to describe the character of the welcome which London's millions have given these 1,200 returned volunteers. There is no doubt of its heartiness, but there was a new pervading note, which was grim and menacing. Their shouts, cries, and cheers were a world of difference and there is ample evidence that the war fever is still burning hot in the veins of the British people. This is a surprise, for before the election there were signs that the South African war was becoming unpopular. Some features of to-day's events offer an explanation. There are abundant expressions of exasperation because of the Boers' continued and more or less successful resistance coupled with an openly expressed desire that Great Britain will soon find a foe more worthy of her steel and gain an opportunity to demonstrate her military and naval strength. It is this feeling which makes to-day's event, with its turbulent features, significant to the world at large.

Thousands of people were rushing into the city at an early hour in the morning, and the streets were jammed along the entire route with a cheering, patriotic, singing multitude. It was the greatest popular demonstration the Empire has ever seen.

Business was at a practical standstill, and every coin of advantage was utilized by the great masses of humanity.

TORONTO WELCOME THE TROOPS.

Toronto, Nov. 5: All day and far into the night the demonstration in honor of the returned soldiers has been kept up. The streets have been jammed with thousands upon thousands of people. The cheering was incessant on the line of march, reaching a climax as the men in khaki passed by. The men, on the whole, looked hale and hearty. A few rode in the carriages, more or less invalided. The procession included at least 10,000 people, the principal corps being - 2,000 militia, made up of the local corps, Peterboro and the 13th, of Hamilton; 2,000 boys, including the Boys' Brigade; public school drill corps and the cadets; 1,500 students; and 2,000 members of the Sons of England. All the other societies were represented, according to their strength; numerous interesting features and a few comic floats. Hundreds of the leading men of the city were in the procession. The men in khaki did not march alone or very regularly.

When they reached North Toronto they found themselves in the arms of fathers, brothers, and friends, and many of these remained with them on the march. When the men reached the armories there was a brief, but interesting ceremony, in the shape of the official welcome home, which was given by Ald. Leslie, on behalf of the reception committee. Captain Barker responded on behalf of the men. Ald. Leslie read the following telegram, which was loudly cheered from Her Majesty the Queen, just received from the military department at Ottawa:

"Her Majesty the Queen, has heard with pleasure of the safe return of the Canadian contingent, and desires to thank them most cordially for the services which they have rendered Her Majesty."

The city was gaily illuminated to-night, and firecrackers, bombs and horn blowing were indulged in lavishly. The day altogether was a remarkable demonstration. The weather was magnificent, save for the interruption in the shape of a miniature blizzard shortly after the march ended, which tore down many smaller decorations and did some damage around the town. A half hour's fierce rain followed, then fine weather again.

When Canada has her branch of the Royal Mint there will be four colonial branches, as there are already three in Australia. Those at Melbourne and Sydney were established about forty years ago, but that at Perth, western Australia, was completed in 1898. These branches are directly under the control of the Imperial authorities, but receive an annual grant each from the colony in which they are located, any surplus of revenue being returned to the colonial treasury. The grants from each colony are $20,000 annually, but in 1898, the surplus returned in the case of the Melbourne branch was over $4,000. In 1899 these branches coined as much gold as did the Royal Mint, a large demand being made from South Africa on account of the approach of war. In 1899 the Royal Mint coined for Canada the militia medals, and two million copper, three million silver pieces, and 1,212,000 gold coins. There are also mints at Calcutta and Bombay.

Lord Strathcona was recently tendered a reception in Toronto. A Toronto paper thus briefly describes the event.

The tribute which Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal received from the hands of the people of Toronto yesterday will not only take rank among the greatest honors ever paid a visitor to this city, but it will live in the memories of those who witnessed it as being an occasion on which many important deliverances were made upon the future of Canada by one whose knowledge of this country is, perhaps greater than that of any other man. The guest of the day came up from Montreal on the morning train. He was entertained at luncheon by Sir Oliver Mowat at government house, and afterwards received many well-known citizens. The chief event of the day, however, was the great board of trade banquet at the Pavilion in the evening. About the tables sat representatives of every profession and every branch of industry and commercial activity, and they were numbered by hundreds. His welcome came from the president of the city's board of trade, the premier of the province, the head of a great educational institution, and from others, as representative of their different callings, and their recital of his achievements and his munificence, and his splendid address in acceptance of the honor shown him, were delivered before a gathering which was in many ways the most brilliant that the city has in its history seen. Lord Strathcona's most stirring words were upon his strong belief in the unity of the British Empire, and he made the statement that in the development of this result a Pacific cable would, in his opinion, be constructed by the year 1902.

The arrest of Walter Gordon, the man wanted for the Whitewater murders, has not yet taken place, although the police expect that within a short time he will be located in New Mexico and arrested.

London, Nov. 2: The Standard's Shanghai correspondent says the Chinese official telegram from Singan Fu states that Prince Tuan has fled to Mongolia, with his head shaved and disguised as a Buddhist priest. It is reported that he intends to join the Lamas.

HOW CAPTAIN CHALMERS DIED.

Lord Roberts, in a despatch dated Johannesburg, Nov. 5, reports to the war office as follows:

"Smith-Dorrien states that Major Sanders and Captain Chalmers (of the Canadian Mounted Rifles) behaved with great gallantry in the action of Nov. 2. Sanders rode out under a heavy fire to bring in a horseless non-commissioned officer. Sanders was wounded and his horse was killed, and Chalmers went to his assistance. Sanders implored him to leave, but was refused, and the gallant Chalmers was, I grieve to say, killed."

FIGHTING AROUND LYBENBURG.

A correspondent writes: On Friday morning General Buller moved his division up to the town. General Hamilton's forces occupying it by an extended advance. D Battery advanced over the ground covered on the previous evening, again with the cavalry brigade, and this time there was no opposition from the hill, although we suspected that it was the full before the storm. The cavalry—advancing north of the town were fired upon heavily by mounted infantry, and the battery was ordered through the town out to the slope on the north to assist the cavalry. The guns came into action and made excellent practice; in fact, on several occasions the fire of our guns has been so "pretty" as to excite very favorable comment upon both the ranging ability of Major Burdman and the work of the gunlayers. The Boers could be seen hurrying away at their best speed, and we made it as uncomfortable as possible for them. Believed from the duty of holding this ridge, we marched back through the town to the south side, and came into camp. General Buller's division had moved in to the east and southeast of the town, our division taking the south side. No sooner had we got comfortably settled into camp than the same old puff of smoke—this time from the very top of the 1,500 feet height—the same old roar, and the ball was opened. The first shell struck a spruce at the foot of the slope on which our camp lay, killing two men of the Royal Irish Regiment. This time the gun was not alone, for one after another five long-range guns opened up, and fired from 2 o'clock continuously till dark, and after night fell they sent their never-absent "good-night."

This guns distributed their fire over both camps. The first shell was the signal for the moving of the transport, Buller's wagons moving across the summit in a long line, rapidly doubled up, the Kaffir drivers shrilling out their cries at the impressive oxen and cracking their long whips like a fusillade of pistol shots. The Kaffir driver is quick when the fear of death lies before him—not otherwise. Before one's eyes the plain gradually emptied itself of transport wagons, and most of the infantry battalions moved to more sheltered ground. The artillery camp received no orders to move, and sat it out, taking the precaution to send the horses away to cover. The cow-guns, in position at the foot of our slope, received orders from General Buller not to fire, although the 5-inch guns from General Buller's camp replied at intervals to the hill, making very good practice with lyddite. Beside the cow-guns lay the camps of the pom-poms, 20th R. A. and the R. C. A. Before the horses could be shifted a shell fell in the 20th lines between the pile of harness and the horses' heels, burying and bursting, but not killing any of the horses. Shrapnel after shrapnel burst over the camp—about eighteen burst in or over our camp—and it was really miraculous that we had no casualties, save one poor little pup, who was killed by a fragment—a parallel to "the mule of San Diego"—but we did not draw this parallel till afterwards. After each burst a scamper would be made for the bullets and fragments which—dropped down everywhere. One fragment—the entire base of a shell—showed to be a six-inch shell, weighing probably 100 pounds. The flash and the smoke would appear on the hills—then a soul-consuming interval of 35 seconds would elapse, then the roar of the discharge—and at the same moment the peacocks increasing shriek of the shell, then the burst, the shower of bullets and fragments, and one's mind had a load, lifted from it to find that he was still intact. Some of the men of the 18th Hussars (who had been through the siege) said it quite equalled Ladysmith, so we did not feel that we had been exciting ourselves over trifles. We heard of a few casualties, but when one considers the large number of shells fired it was simply surprising that so few had been killed and wounded. "In the course of the firing they threw a few shells into the town—the first instances of their shelling their own property."

THE SITUATION IN THE TRANSVAAL.

The striking revival of the Boer war is limited to synchronize with ex-President Kruger's arrival in Europe. The fact that the Boers no longer have an important fixed position to be attacked has left them free to indulge in the roving warfare which they are prosecuting with such extraordinary success. The British no longer have any definite objective for heavy operations, and are far from acquiring equal nimbleness with the Boer at scattered fighting. This batters are now masters of the country in the Western Transvaal around Vryburg. They also hold all the keys to the Southern Free State, and have repeatedly attacked the main railway from Pretoria to Cape Town, above the Orange river. They have held up four trains last week, and have taken supplies. They have also compelled the small British garrisons at Reddersburg and Ventersburg to surrender. They took the arms and supplies, but liberated those who surrendered, not wishing to have them to feed. This list of successes had a natural sequel in increasing the activity of all the commandos. The net result is that Botha, De Wet, and Delarey are all as strong as they were four months ago. When supplies are short they sweep down on some village which the British hold and which they know is well filled, and help themselves, leaving cheques on the Transvaal or the Free State government. The irreconcilable bitterness of the Boer women is extraordinary. It was the women who brought the Boers right into Jacobabad and Philippolis, where they overpowered the garrison. When ex-President Kruger sailed from Delagoa Bay it was immediately declared that he was a mere private, harmless refugee, embarrassing only to the country which he visited. It is impossible to maintain that belief now. He is due at Marcellus on November 10, and unless the Boer activity is materially suppressed within the week, which is not to be expected, it is seriously possible that some power may seek to advise England to arrange a settlement. That that advice will be rejected is certain, but the offering of it will continue the Boer belief that their struggle for independence is not hopeless yet. Meanwhile the Uitlanders are becoming a menace to the British authorities. Sir Alfred Milner, by refusing to allow passes for any Jews to return to Johannesburg, has made an occasion for agitation, the Uitlanders accusing him of a scheme to plant the Transvaal with British families to the exclusion of its previous foreign population. His dislike for the Polish and Austrian Jews is extreme and uncontrolled. Potentially for him, they never fight, but the wealthier men of their race are encouraging them openly in intriguing against Milner's authority. The mining magnates are uneasy over the statement that the cost of the war is to be paid by assessment, the Imperial exchequer paying only the cost of defending the colonial frontiers. The inhabitants of small towns in the Orange River Colony and the Vaal River Colony which are occupied by British garrisons, have been treacherously admitting the Boers and concealing them in their homes. This practice appears to be spreading. On October 25, fourteen British soldiers were killed at Jacobabad through this kind of treachery.

MORE CANADIANS RETURN.

A cable from Col. Otter from Cape Town, dated Nov. 6th, states that his regiment sails that day for Southampton. Those returning are: Majors Buchanan and Fiset, Captains Burdall, and McDonnell, Lieutenants Lawless, Mason, Swift, Lafferty, Temple, and Carpenter, and 300 men.

Major Weeks has fever and remains behind at Krugersdorp, but is not dangerously ill. Capt. Ogilvie remains behind for staff duty. Field Marshall Lord Roberts complimented the regiment, particularly for the work at Paardeberg.

WAR NOTES.

General French has arrived at the Springs, a few miles from Johannesburg, after a difficult march from Barborton. He has lost 1,500 transport oxen since his advance from Machadodorp. It is believed that the plan of moving large bodies of troops about the country will now be abandoned, and that the complete subjugation of the country will be attempted by means of garrisons in principal towns, which will be well stocked with provisions, and made the bases for mounted troops, who will scour the territory round the bases.

The remaining detachment of the Royal Canadian Regiment left for home on the 4th. Gen. Roberts, before starting on his return to England, thanked his bodyguard for their efficient services, and presented to each of the men an autograph photograph of himself. The principal members of Gen. Roberts' old staff will leave to-night for England. Col. Hamilton has been appointed military secretary to Gen. Kitchener, upon whom the military command has devolved. (The new headquarters staff is being rapidly installed. The mounted forces are being re-equipped. The New Zealand contingent left for Rustenburg on the 4th. The greatest satisfaction is expressed by the British because of the refusal of the Queen of the Netherlands to give an official reception to ex-President Kruger upon his arrival in that country, and also because of the action of the Brussels authorities in refusing to permit any demonstration when Mr. Kruger reaches Belgium.

Gen. Brabant has gone to Cape Colony to recruit men for his colonial division. He has been authorized to raise two additional regiments. The force under command of General Charles Knox, which includes De Lisle's and Le Gyllis, mounted men, has been doing successful work. They prevented Gen. De Wet from returning, and headed him off at the drifts. De Wet was nearly warded by the north bank of the river, and dashed across Roossburg drift, where he was attacked. Here the Boers had many casualties, and lost two guns. "U" Battery distinguished itself by fine practice.
